Resale-Lot Tally Log

One line per item (or per lot). Print several copies and lay the top one flat at the payment table. When the sale's over, fold along this line and the completed rows slide straight into resale-lot-style records — the same Lot #, Table, and price columns your online listing spreadsheet expects.

| Lot # | Table | What sold (batch items at one price into one lot) | Asked | Sold for | Paid by | Notes / fees |

| Best, worst, and surprise tables | _____ |

Simple ways to use Lot #

☐ Quick way (no math): count up from 1 as things sell — "1, 2, 3..." — and erase the count when the day's done

☐ Resaler way: Lot # = sale date + table letter + row — e.g. 0-5-1-2-8 / K / 3 means Oct 5, Kitchen table, third row

☐ Batch way: group $1 items into one lot (Lot #0-5-1-2-8/B / 24 pieces) instead of one line per item

Folding it into resale-lot records

The log was drawn at exactly the same column rhythm as a resale lot sheet (one item, one line, price, source, notes), so the rows themselves become lot records:

| Tally column | Maps directly to | Typical resale-lot record field |
| Lot # | Lot record ID — date + table + row | Same ID goes on the listing, the storage tote, and the spreadsheet row |
| Table | Source of the item | “Source” or “Pick” field (garage, KS/Marketplace, donation) |
| What sold | Item title for the listing | First draft of your listing title — write it plainly |
| Asked | List price suggestion vs. what sold | “Cost basis / list plan” — teaches you pricing year over year |
| Sold for | Sale amount | “Sold price” line in your sales spreadsheet |
| Notes / fees | Bagging, breakage, partial-returns junk fees | “Fees / adjustments” line |

Next time you log lots for online resale, key the well-written rows straight through, then cross-check the Total taken in box against the change-fund worksheet (Sheet 4). Everything stays local, on paper, under your control.
